APPLICANT SOURCES

This industry has more success with sponsored job ads on major job boards (like Indeed and ZipRecruiter) than any other industry in our study. At the same time, the organic (non-sponsored) job postings on those same job boards produce the fewest applicants among our industries. Still, careers pages and custom sources continue to be better sources for candidates that convert to hires at a much higher rate.

SOURCE	JOB BOARDS	SPONSORED JOB ADS	CAREERS PAGE	CUSTOM SOURCE*	REFERRAL
% of Applicants	48%	35%	15%	1%	<1%
% of Hires	37%	20%	34%	7%	2%
% of Applicants Hired	2%	1%	6%	17%	19%

*Custom source: A source to which an employer manually shared a job posting (industry job board, local university, Craigslist, etc.)

KEY METRICS

KEY TAKEAWAYS

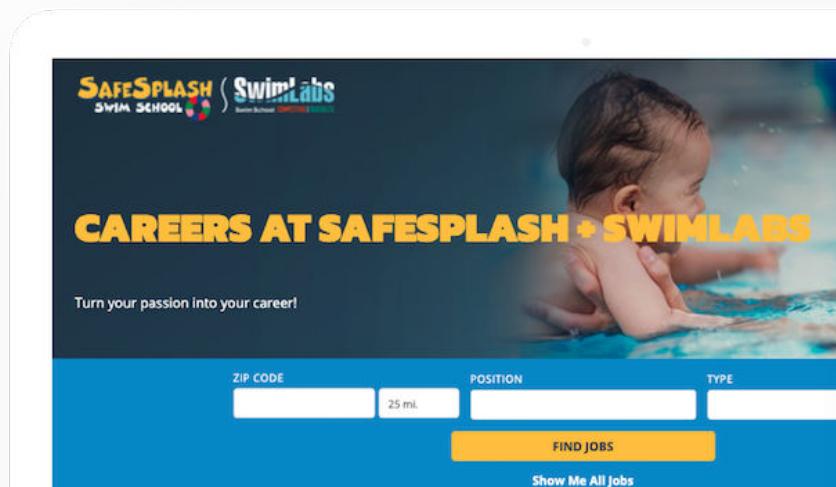

- ➡ Education & childcare employers in our study turned to sponsoring job ads in 2021 as part of their recruiting strategy, which makes sense in an industry so impacted by a lack of qualified candidates. But even though this strategy resulted in an increase in applicants and hires from sponsored ads specifically, if you look at the aggregate total of those applicants plus the applicants received from organic job board postings, it ends up being on par with results seen by other industries, just broken out differently.
- ➡ Our advice for employers in this industry is to broaden your applicant pool to ensure you're not relying only on the job boards – whether through organic or sponsored posts – for applicants. For example, one consistent source of high quality applicants across all industries is referrals. Ask your employees and customers for referrals to get better results in your next round of hiring.
- ➡ Focus your efforts on improving your employer brand online. Since company career pages yield 34% of hires, it's important to ensure that you have an attractive careers page that results in more applications from high-quality talent. Similarly, custom links provide an effective source of hires, so make sure your jobs are posted in places like industry-specific job boards or local university job boards.

How to Improve Your Hiring in 2022

2021 was a rollercoaster year for recruiting, but we've gained insights into what steps businesses can take now to hire top talent regardless of the state of the job market.

1. Build your employer brand and showcase it on your careers page.

Company careers pages are a hugely successful source of hires, but an untapped source of applicants overall. Candidates who take the time to research a company tend to be high-quality candidates who are more selective about where they choose to apply. Invest in creating an engaging and attractive careers page that showcases employee testimonials, aspects of your company culture, and your core values.

IF YOU'RE PASSIONATE ABOUT KIDS OR THE SPORT OF SWIMMING, YOU'RE AT THE RIGHT PLACE.

We help our swimmers be safer, compete smarter, feel confident, and enjoy a life-long love of the sport. There where you find the opportunity to truly make a difference. At Safe-Splash + SwinLabs, we do it every day! Not only life-saving skill, we're instilling a sense of pride and confidence in kids every day.

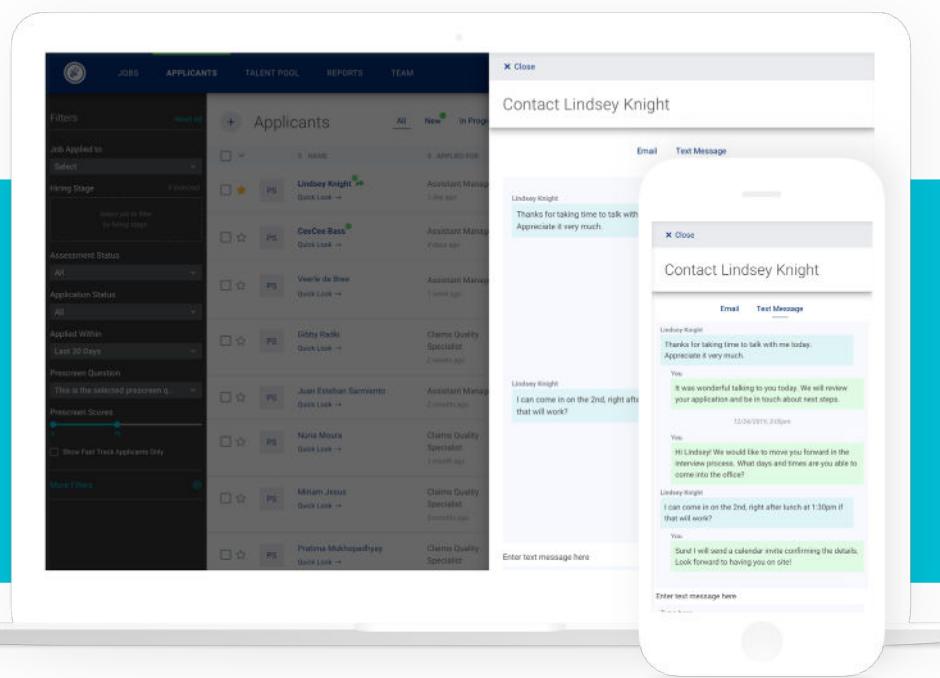

Love working with kids? Want to wear your flip-flops to work? Want to join the fastest growing swim school brand in the nation? Then we want YOU! We are actively recruiting professional individuals who will help us uphold the best as possible at our schools across the nation. Join our swim family that gets to enable a lifetime of water safety and teaching the joy and skill of swimming! We are invested in helping you be the best you can be in and out of the classroom.

2. Create better job postings to stand apart from your competitors.

In 2021, we frequently heard from employers who were concerned about the declining number of applicants to their jobs. But our data shows that job postings received just as many views per job as in 2020 – however the number of applicants per job was cut nearly in half. This tells us that job seekers are seeing your postings, they're just faced with more options than ever, and they're only applying to the opportunities that appeal to them the most. As an employer, it's crucial that you write enticing job descriptions so that candidates are compelled to apply to your business and not your competitors. Practice pay transparency by offering competitive pay and benefits and advertising it in the job posting.

3. Create a job marketing strategy that doesn't rely on job boards.

Compile a list of custom sources like industry-specific job boards, community message boards, local and university job boards, and email campaigns to customers. Compile another list of employees, friends, and colleagues in your personal network to reach out to for referrals. Our data shows these sources produce the highest-quality candidates, yet the lowest percentage of applicants. Plan on targeting them before your next round of hiring.

4. Communicate with candidates faster.

Employers are now quicker to hire, shaving nearly a week off their time-to-hire between 2020 and 2021. You'll want to move fast before your competition scoops up quality candidates. Try text recruiting to communicate with candidates faster. Text messages receive an 8 times higher response rate than email, along with a much faster response time. An applicant tracking system like CareerPlug can also help you quickly evaluate candidates using a proven hiring process, allowing you to accelerate your hiring decisions without sacrificing quality.
